

Liyan celebrates the Chinese New Year with her family. She likes to wear her new clothes when she goes to her grandparents' house for a special, delicious dinner. They decorate the house with paper lanterns, and banners with spring poems written on them.

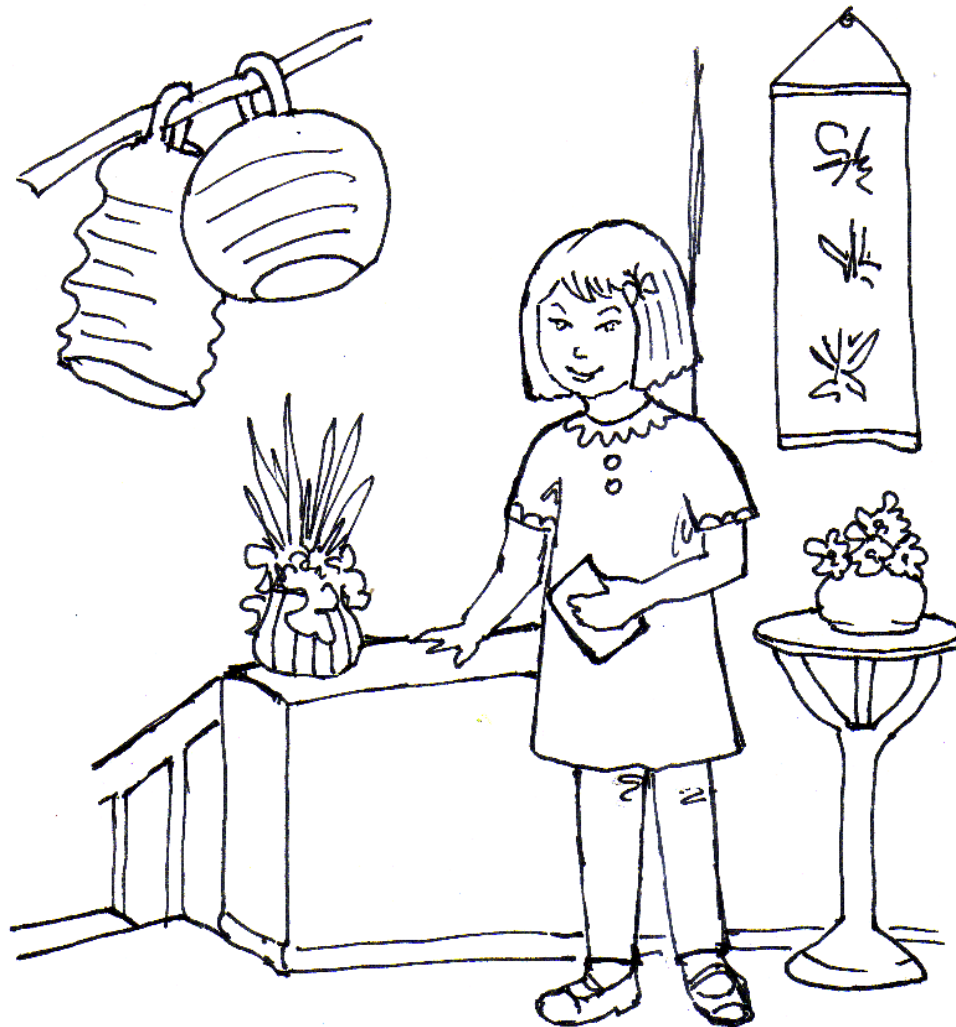

Liyan's dad gives her a red envelope with some lucky money inside it. She thinks about whether she should keep the lucky money, or buy something with it. What would YOU do?

---

---

---

---

Liyan celebrates the Chinese New Year with her family. She likes to wear her new clothes when she goes to her grandparents' house for a special, delicious dinner. They decorate the house with paper lanterns, and banners with spring poems written on them.

Liyan's dad gives her a red envelope with some lucky money inside it. She thinks about whether she should keep the lucky money, or buy something with it. What would YOU do?

---

---

---

---

